Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1, 2, 14-32, drawn to a method for the prophylaxis or treatment of a HBV infection in a subject, classified in 435, subclass 320.1.
  - II. Claims 3, 11-32, drawn to a pharmaceutical composition against HBV, classified in 536, subclass 23.72.
  - III. Claims 12-32, drawn to a kit, classified in 514, subclass 44.
  - IV. Claims 33-38, drawn to a method of selecting an antiviral oligonucleotide for use as an anti-HBV agent, classified in class 435, subclass 6.
2. Groups I and II/III are related as product and process of using. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the method for the prophylaxis or treatment of a HBV infection of Group I can be practiced with different materials, such as peptides or proteins.
3. Groups I and IV are different methods. The method for the prophylaxis or treatment of a HBV infection in a subject and the method of selecting an anti-HBV oligonucleotide differ from each other with respect to systems, procedures, protocols, method steps and endpoints. Therefore, each method is patentably distinct.
4. Groups II and III are different products, wherein each is capable of separate manufacture and use.

5. Groups II/III and IV are related as product and process of using. Groups II/III are directed to a pharmaceutical composition and a kit of oligonucleotides, while Group IV is directed to a method of selecting the antiviral oligonucleotides. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, the method of Groups IV for selecting anti-HBV oligonucleotides could be used for selecting other anti-viral oligonucleotides.

6. These inventions are distinct for the reasons given above. In addition, they have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by different classification and/or recognized divergent subject matter. Further, even though in some cases the classification is shared, a different field of search would be required based upon the structurally distinct products recited and the various methods of use comprising distinct method steps. Since it is an undue burden for the Office to search more than one invention, a restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Species Election

7. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: Embodiments of the claimed oligonucleotide comprising at least one modification to its chemical structure (claims 18-25).

Art Unit: 1648

8. If Applicant elects Group I, II OR III, Applicant is required to elect ONE oligonucleotide comprising specific modification(s) comprising phosphorothioated linkage, methylphosphonate linkage OR phosphorodithioated linkage from claims 18-24. Applicant is required to specify the 2'-modification to the ribose moiety of the elected oligonucleotide (claim 21). Applicant is further required to specify the elected oligonucleotide is monomer or a concatemer (claim 25).

9. If group II is elected, Applicant is required to further elect the antiviral pharmaceutical composition is adapted for delivery by oral, by enter, by injection, by inhalation or topically.

10. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.

11. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

12. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

13. The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

Art Unit: 1648

14. In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See “Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b),” 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

15. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

16. Applicant is reminded the upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance the 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
